We purchased a home with an uninsulated basement and knew we needed to add insulation and reduce the energy loss. We looked at different options, but found the Quik-Therm product provided the best energy savings and value. The integrated studs is a nice feature and eliminates thermal bridging from conventional studs. We noticed an immediate improvement in the warmth of the basement and main floor. The furnace runs less and we realized immediate costs savings on natural gas consumption. The installation was professional and quick. I would choose Quik-Therm again and recommend it to anyone considering insulating a basement or home.
